How to read this report

This report compares Maya (1992-09-03 08:15) and Sam (1990-04-21 19:40). It looks at how one person's planets aspect the other's, the classic method called synastry.

Both birth times were given, so the Moon positions are exact.

No chart can decide whether a relationship works. Use this as a conversation starter about how you each love, talk and handle stress.

How the report is organised

- A summary of both charts and the compatibility scores.
- A page each for the Moon, Venus and Mars of both people.
- Synastry aspects sorted by theme: romance, communication, emotional bond and long-term staying power, each with the aspects found, orbs and meanings.
- House overlays, the composite chart (the chart of the relationship itself), strengths, growth areas, and practical guides for communication, conflict and the long term.
- A 12-month timing outlook for both of you, conversation prompts, glossary and method.

Both birth times are known, so house overlays are included.

Your relationship in short

Overall: 60/100 (Balanced). Romance & attraction: 49/100 (Needs work). Communication: 81/100 (Very strong). Emotional bond: 55/100 (Balanced). Long-term staying power: 62/100 (Balanced). The overall score weights romance 30 percent, emotional bond 25, staying power 25 and communication 20. It describes the chart connection only. Maya's Mercury Sam's Sun (Trine, 1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily. Maya's Neptune Sam's Moon (Sextile, 2.1°): A dreamy, soulful link (watch for illusion); this flows easily. Every couple has easy and harder links; what matters is how you talk about them.

Your Big Three side by side

Maya: Sun Virgo, Moon Sagittarius, Rising Libra.

Sam: Sun Taurus, Moon Pisces, Rising Libra.

Maya's Sun: You make things better. Your Virgo Sun notices what others miss and finds meaning in being useful and skilled. Your growth edge is turning that precise eye kindly on yourself and calling something finished.

Sam's Sun: You build a life that feels good and lasts. Your Taurus Sun values comfort, loyalty and things done properly; you rarely rush, and you rarely quit. Your growth edge is letting change in before it is forced on you.

Maya's Sun in Virgo and Sam's Sun in Taurus: Earth meets Earth, the same element, which brings instant familiarity and a shared way of reacting; the risk is that you amplify each other's blind spots.

Maya's Moon in Sagittarius and Sam's Moon in Pisces: Fire meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Maya's Rising in Libra and Sam's Rising in Libra: Air meets Air, the same element, which brings instant familiarity and a shared way of reacting; the risk is that you amplify each other's blind spots.

How each of you needs to be cared for Maya (Moon in Sagittarius): You need freedom, optimism and room to roam. Feeling trapped is your hardest emotion. Travel, learning, laughter and a big-picture view help you through rough patches.

Sam (Moon in Pisces): You are an emotional sponge, absorbing the moods around you. You need quiet, music, art or water to recharge. Gentle boundaries protect your sensitivity rather than closing it off.

When you are stressed, each of you will reach for the comfort of your Moon sign. Learning your partner's Moon is one of the most loving things you can do: it tells you what to offer, and what not to take personally.

Love languages: Venus and Mars

Maya's Venus in Libra: Venus is at home here. You love harmony, beauty and partnership, and you bring grace to relationships. Fairness matters. Make sure you are choosing, not only being chosen.

Sam's Venus in Pisces: You love romantically and selflessly. You want soul-level connection and can see the best in anyone. You show affection through empathy and imagination. Keep your eyes open as well as your heart.

Mars shows desire and how each of you handles conflict: Maya has Mars in Gemini, Sam has Mars in Pisces.

Maya's Venus in Libra and Sam's Mars in Pisces: Air meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Sam's Venus in Pisces and Maya's Mars in Gemini: Water meets Air, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Your strongest connections

Maya's Mercury Sam's Sun (Trine, 1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily.

Maya's Neptune Sam's Moon (Sextile, 2.1°): A dreamy, soulful link (watch for illusion); this flows easily.

Maya's Jupiter Sam's Mercury (Trine, 4.6°): Conversations that expand and encourage; this flows easily.

Maya's North Node Sam's Sun (Trine, 4.6°): A 'meant to meet' feeling of shared direction; this flows easily.

Maya's Mars Sam's Mars (Trine, 5.7°): Your drives meet — teamwork or friction; this flows easily.

Maya's Sun Sam's Jupiter (Sextile, 5.8°): You bring out each other's optimism; this flows easily.

Maya's Moon Sam's North Node (Sextile, 5.9°): A deep sense of familiarity; this flows easily.

Maya's Sun Sam's Mercury (Trine, 6.1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily.

Maya's Neptune Sam's Venus (Sextile, 0°): This flows easily.

Maya's Uranus Sam's Moon (Sextile, 0.1°): This flows easily.

Where you'll need patience

Maya's Venus Sam's Jupiter (Square, 1.9°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Sun Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5°): Admiration and affection come easily; this creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Jupiter Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5.7°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Moon Sam's Moon (Square, 7.6°): Your emotional rhythms; this creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Jupiter Sam's Moon (Opposition, 7.8°): Generosity and emotional support; this creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Mercury Sam's Mars (Opposition, 0.2°): This creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Sun Sam's Moon (Opposition, 3°): This creates tension that asks for effort.

Maya's Pluto Sam's Mercury (Opposition, 3.1°): This creates tension that asks for effort.

Tension aspects are not verdicts. They mark topics where you will each need to be more explicit and kinder than usual.

Maya's Sun in Virgo

Placement

Maya's Sun is at 11°17 Virgo in the 12th house. It shows who Maya is becoming and what gives them energy and pride.

Sun in Virgo

You make things better. Your Virgo Sun notices what others miss and finds meaning in being useful and skilled. Your growth edge is turning that precise eye kindly on yourself and calling something finished.

Virgo brings precision, usefulness and a talent for improving things. The stretch is accepting good enough, in yourself most of all.

Aspects

- Sun flows easily with Uranus (orb 2.9°): who you are becoming flows easily with where you break the mould. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted. (tight aspect.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Sun pushes against Moon (orb 4.6°): who you are becoming pushes against what makes you feel safe. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it. (moderate aspect.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Sun flows easily with Neptune (orb 5.1°): who you are becoming flows easily with where you dissolve boundaries. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted. (wide aspect.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.

In the relationship

Maya's Sun is the part of them that wants to be seen and appreciated. A partner who notices and names what is going well for Maya here gives them real fuel.

- When do I feel most like myself, and what was I doing?
- Which of my goals am I pursuing because they are mine, not because they impress people?
- What would I do this month if I trusted my own direction?

Maya's Moon in Sagittarius

Placement

Maya's Moon is at 6°41 Sagittarius in the 3rd house. In a relationship it shows how Maya needs to be comforted.

Moon in Sagittarius

You need freedom, optimism and room to roam. Feeling trapped is your hardest emotion. Travel, learning, laughter and a big-picture view help you through rough patches.

Sagittarius brings optimism, honesty and a hunger for meaning. The stretch is commitment to details and to other people's pace.

What Sam can do

Offer encouragement and room to move.

Aspects to Maya's Moon

- Moon supports Venus (orb 3.1°): what makes you feel safe supports how you love and what you value. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Moon supports Ascendant (orb 3.5°): what makes you feel safe supports how you meet the world. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Sun pushes against Moon (orb 4.6°): who you are becoming pushes against what makes you feel safe. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it.
- Moon pushes against Mercury (orb 6.3°): what makes you feel safe pushes against how you think and talk. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it.
- Moon supports Saturn (orb 6.6°): what makes you feel safe supports where you build slowly and for keeps. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.

Reflection prompts

- What do I need when I am stressed, and have I ever said it out loud?
- Which routines make my days feel safe?
- Whose emotions do I absorb that are not mine?

Maya's Venus in Libra

Placement

Maya's Venus is at 3°32 Libra in the 1st house. In a relationship it shows how Maya gives and receives affection.

Venus in Libra

Venus is at home here. You love harmony, beauty and partnership, and you bring grace to relationships. Fairness matters. Make sure you are choosing, not only being chosen.

Libra brings diplomacy, fairness and a feel for balance and beauty. The stretch is making decisions without waiting for everyone's approval.

What Sam can do

Show affection in a way that matches words and shared ideas: send the message, ask the question.

Aspects to Maya's Venus

- Venus pushes against Midheaven (orb 0.2°): how you love and what you value pushes against what you are known for. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it.
- Venus fuses Ascendant (orb 0.4°): how you love and what you value fuses how you meet the world. These two work as one unit in you, for better and worse.
- Moon supports Venus (orb 3.1°): what makes you feel safe supports how you love and what you value. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Venus pushes against North Node (orb 6.8°): how you love and what you value pushes against the direction that stretches you. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it.

Reflection prompts

- What makes me feel loved on an ordinary day?
- What do I spend on that I do not actually value, and the reverse?
- Where do I say yes when I mean no?

Maya's Mars in Gemini

Placement

Maya's Mars is at 24°55 Gemini in the 9th house. In a relationship it shows how Maya pursues, desires and fights.

Mars in Gemini

You fight with words and act on curiosity. You run several projects at once and win arguments with speed and wit. Your energy scatters when bored. Your edge is finishing one thing before you chase the next idea.

Gemini brings curiosity, wit and the ability to see two sides. The stretch is depth and follow-through on a single thread.

What Sam can do

Respect the preference to talk first: give them time to think and speak.

Aspects to Maya's Mars

- Mars pulls against North Node (orb 1.8°): how you go after what you want pulls against the direction that stretches you. Two needs to balance rather than choose between, often played out through other people.
- Mars pushes against Jupiter (orb 2.9°): how you go after what you want pushes against where life expands. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it.

Reflection prompts

- What do I want right now that I have not admitted?
- How do I behave when I am angry, and what would I like to do instead?
- What kind of exercise or challenge restores my energy?

Sam's Sun in Taurus

Placement

Sam's Sun is at 1°24 Taurus in the 7th house. It shows who Sam is becoming and what gives them energy and pride.

Sun in Taurus

You build a life that feels good and lasts. Your Taurus Sun values comfort, loyalty and things done properly; you rarely rush, and you rarely quit. Your growth edge is letting change in before it is forced on you.

Taurus brings steadiness, loyalty and an eye for what is genuinely good. The stretch is flexibility when plans or comforts change.

Aspects

- Sun supports Mars (orb 0.8°): who you are becoming supports how you go after what you want. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose. (exact aspect.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Sun pulls against Ascendant (orb 3.7°): who you are becoming pulls against how you meet the world. Two needs to balance rather than choose between, often played out through other people. (moderate aspect.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Sun supports Jupiter (orb 4.1°): who you are becoming supports where life expands. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose. (moderate aspect.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Sun pushes against Midheaven (orb 5.7°): who you are becoming pushes against what you are known for. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it. (wide aspect.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Sun pushes against Saturn (orb 6.2°): who you are becoming pushes against where you build slowly and for keeps. A source of friction that becomes drive once you work with it. (wide aspect.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Sun flows easily with Uranus (orb 8.2°): who you are becoming flows easily with where you break the mould. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted. (wide aspect.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.

In the relationship

Sam's Sun is the part of them that wants to be seen and appreciated. A partner who notices and names what is going well for Sam here gives them real fuel.

- When do I feel most like myself, and what was I doing?
- Which of my goals am I pursuing because they are mine, not because they impress people?
- What would I do this month if I trusted my own direction?

Sam's Moon in Pisces

Placement

Sam's Moon is at 14°16 Pisces in the 5th house. In a relationship it shows how Sam needs to be comforted.

Moon in Pisces

You are an emotional sponge, absorbing the moods around you. You need quiet, music, art or water to recharge. Gentle boundaries protect your sensitivity rather than closing it off.

Pisces brings empathy, imagination and spiritual openness. The stretch is boundaries and practical follow-through.

What Maya can do

Offer warmth, reassurance and a safe place to feel.

Aspects to Sam's Moon

- Moon supports Neptune (orb 0.3°): what makes you feel safe supports where you dissolve boundaries. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Moon fuses Venus (orb 2.1°): what makes you feel safe fuses how you love and what you value. These two work as one unit in you, for better and worse.
- Moon flows easily with Pluto (orb 2.6°): what makes you feel safe flows easily with where you are remade. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted.
- Moon supports Mercury (orb 3.2°): what makes you feel safe supports how you think and talk. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Moon supports Uranus (orb 4.7°): what makes you feel safe supports where you break the mould. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Moon flows easily with Jupiter (orb 8.8°): what makes you feel safe flows easily with where life expands. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted.

Reflection prompts

- What do I need when I am stressed, and have I ever said it out loud?
- Which routines make my days feel safe?
- Whose emotions do I absorb that are not mine?

Sam's Venus in Pisces

Placement

Sam's Venus is at 16°19 Pisces in the 5th house. In a relationship it shows how Sam gives and receives affection.

Venus in Pisces

You love romantically and selflessly. You want soul-level connection and can see the best in anyone. You show affection through empathy and imagination. Keep your eyes open as well as your heart.

Pisces brings empathy, imagination and spiritual openness. The stretch is boundaries and practical follow-through.

What Maya can do

Show affection in a way that matches feeling and presence: notice the emotional side and be tender.

Aspects to Sam's Venus

- Venus flows easily with Pluto (orb 0.5°): how you love and what you value flows easily with where you are remade. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted.
- Mercury supports Venus (orb 1.1°): how you think and talk supports how you love and what you value. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Venus supports Neptune (orb 1.8°): how you love and what you value supports where you dissolve boundaries. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Moon fuses Venus (orb 2.1°): what makes you feel safe fuses how you love and what you value. These two work as one unit in you, for better and worse.

Reflection prompts

- What makes me feel loved on an ordinary day?
- What do I spend on that I do not actually value, and the reverse?
- Where do I say yes when I mean no?

Sam's Mars in Pisces

Placement

Sam's Mars is at 0°38 Pisces in the 4th house. In a relationship it shows how Sam pursues, desires and fights.

Mars in Pisces

You act on intuition and feeling. Your drive rises and falls with your mood and inspiration, and you fight hardest for others. Direct conflict drains you. Your edge is protecting your energy and naming what you want.

Pisces brings empathy, imagination and spiritual openness. The stretch is boundaries and practical follow-through.

What Maya can do

Respect the emotional undercurrent: anger here is rarely about the surface topic.

Aspects to Sam's Mars

- Sun supports Mars (orb 0.8°): who you are becoming supports how you go after what you want. A talent that grows when you use it on purpose.
- Mars flows easily with Ascendant (orb 2.9°): how you go after what you want flows easily with how you meet the world. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted.
- Mars flows easily with Jupiter (orb 4.8°): how you go after what you want flows easily with where life expands. A natural gift; the risk is taking it for granted.

Reflection prompts

- What do I want right now that I have not admitted?
- How do I behave when I am angry, and what would I like to do instead?
- What kind of exercise or challenge restores my energy?

Romance & attraction: aspects between your charts

Score: 49/100 (Needs work)

Romance and attraction are read mainly from Venus, Mars, the Sun and the Moon: who is drawn to whom, what feels sweet, and where there is heat.

The attraction is real but not automatic. It grows when you make time for play, affection and curiosity about each other.

Aspects found

- Maya's Sun Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5°): Admiration and affection come easily; this creates tension that asks for effort. (moderate link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Maya's Mars Sam's Mars (Trine, 5.7°): Your drives meet — teamwork or friction; this flows easily. (wide link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Moon (Opposition, 3°): This creates tension that asks for effort. (tight link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.

Sign-level fit

- Maya's Venus in Libra and Sam's Venus in Pisces: Air meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.
- Maya's Mars in Gemini and Sam's Mars in Pisces: Air meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Try this

Plan one date a month that neither of you has done before, and one low-key evening of affection with no agenda.

Communication: aspects between your charts

Score: 81/100 (Very strong)

Communication is read from Mercury, which shows how each of you thinks and speaks, and how well those styles fit.

Your minds meet easily, and you are likely to enjoy talking for hours. Make sure that ease includes the hard topics.

Aspects found

- Maya's Mercury Sam's Sun (Trine, 1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily. (exact link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Mercury (Trine, 4.6°): Conversations that expand and encourage; this flows easily. (moderate link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Mercury (Trine, 6.1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily. (wide link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.

Sign-level fit

- Maya's Mercury in Virgo and Sam's Mercury in Taurus: Earth meets Earth, the same element, which brings instant familiarity and a shared way of reacting; the risk is that you amplify each other's blind spots.
- Maya's Mercury: Mercury is at home here. Your mind is precise, analytical and practical; you notice errors, details and better ways of doing things. Overthinking is your stress signal. Your edge is kindness in how you deliver a correction.
- Sam's Mercury: You think slowly and thoroughly. Once you have made up your mind it stays made up, and your words are practical and calm. You learn best by doing. Your edge is staying open to a new idea after you have decided.

Try this

Agree on a weekly 20-minute conversation with a simple structure: appreciations, one thing each wants to change, one plan.

Emotional bond: aspects between your charts

Score: 55/100 (Balanced)

The emotional bond is read from the Moon, the part of each of you that needs comfort and security, and how the other person's planets meet it.

You can feel for each other, but each of you has needs the other may need to hear stated. Build a ritual for checking in.

Aspects found

- Maya's Neptune Sam's Moon (Sextile, 2.1°): A dreamy, soulful link (watch for illusion); this flows easily. (tight link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Moon Sam's Moon (Square, 7.6°): Your emotional rhythms; this creates tension that asks for effort. (wide link.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Moon (Opposition, 7.8°): Generosity and emotional support; this creates tension that asks for effort. (wide link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Moon (Opposition, 3°): This creates tension that asks for effort. (tight link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.

Sign-level fit

- Maya's Moon in Sagittarius and Sam's Moon in Pisces: Fire meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.
- Maya's Moon in Sagittarius and Sam's Venus in Pisces: Fire meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.
- Sam's Moon in Pisces and Maya's Venus in Libra: Water meets Air, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Try this

When one of you is stressed, ask 'do you want comfort, solutions or space?' before offering any.

Long-term staying power: aspects between your charts

Score: 62/100 (Balanced)

Long-term staying power is read from Saturn (commitment and tests), Jupiter (shared growth) and the North Node (a sense of direction together).

There is real potential for a lasting bond, built by regular effort: shared plans, honest check-ins and clear agreements.

Aspects found

- Maya's Venus Sam's Jupiter (Square, 1.9°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort. (tight link.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Maya's North Node Sam's Sun (Trine, 4.6°): A 'meant to meet' feeling of shared direction; this flows easily. (moderate link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5.7°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort. (wide link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Jupiter (Sextile, 5.8°): You bring out each other's optimism; this flows easily. (wide link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Moon Sam's North Node (Sextile, 5.9°): A deep sense of familiarity; this flows easily. (wide link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.

Sign-level fit

- Maya's Saturn in Aquarius: The lesson is belonging: being yourself while still committing to a group or cause.
- Sam's Saturn in Capricorn: Saturn is at home here: you can build impressively, but must remember rest and warmth.
- Maya's Saturn in Aquarius and Sam's Saturn in Capricorn: Air meets Earth, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Try this

Write down three shared goals for the next year and one for the next five. Review them together twice a year.

Other connections between your charts

These aspects do not belong to one of the four scored themes, but they colour the relationship, especially the ones with the tightest orbs.

- Maya's Neptune Sam's Venus (Sextile, 0°): This flows easily. (exact link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Uranus Sam's Moon (Sextile, 0.1°): This flows easily. (exact link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Mercury Sam's Mars (Opposition, 0.2°): This creates tension that asks for effort. (exact link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Maya's Uranus Sam's Neptune (Conjunction, 0.4°): This fuses the two energies, for better and worse. (exact link.) Treat the two as one voice; notice when they speak together and whether that fits the moment.
- Maya's Neptune Sam's Pluto (Sextile, 0.5°): This flows easily. (exact link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Saturn Sam's North Node (Conjunction, 0.6°): This fuses the two energies, for better and worse. (exact link.) Treat the two as one voice; notice when they speak together and whether that fits the moment.
- Maya's Neptune Sam's Mercury (Trine, 1.1°): This flows easily. (tight link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Uranus (Trine, 1.7°): This flows easily. (tight link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Neptune Sam's Neptune (Conjunction, 1.8°): This fuses the two energies, for better and worse. (tight link.) Treat the two as one voice; notice when they speak together and whether that fits the moment.
- Maya's Uranus Sam's Venus (Sextile, 2.1°): This flows easily. (tight link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Uranus Sam's Pluto (Sextile, 2.6°): This flows easily. (tight link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.
- Maya's Pluto Sam's Mercury (Opposition, 3.1°): This creates tension that asks for effort. (moderate link.) Notice which pole you over-identify with and which you hand to other people; practise holding both.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Saturn (Trine, 3.2°): This flows easily. (moderate link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Uranus Sam's Mercury (Trine, 3.2°): This flows easily. (moderate link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Neptune (Trine, 3.3°): This flows easily. (moderate link.) It will feel effortless, so give it a job: make a goal that uses this gift rather than coasting on it.
- Maya's Saturn Sam's Pluto (Square, 3.6°): This creates tension that asks for effort. (moderate link.) Expect friction. Write down what each side wants, then look for the action that honours both.
- Maya's Pluto Sam's Pluto (Conjunction, 3.7°): This fuses the two energies, for better and worse. (moderate link.) Treat the two as one voice; notice when they speak together and whether that fits the moment.
- Maya's North Node Sam's Mars (Sextile, 3.9°): This flows easily. (moderate link.) This is an opportunity, not an automatic gift: use it deliberately, for example by starting small projects that combine the two.

Maya's planets in Sam's houses

House overlays show which area of Sam's life each of Maya's planets lands in. They describe where Maya is felt in Sam's world.

Maya's Sun in Sam's 11th house

Maya's Sun brings energy, attention and a sense of purpose in Sam's friends, community and hopes. The eleventh house is community: friends, networks, groups and the hopes you share with them. It shows who your people are and what future you are working toward.

Maya's Moon in Sam's 2nd house

Maya's Moon brings feeling, comfort and the instinct to nurture in Sam's money, possessions and self-worth. The second house covers money you earn, possessions, and the deeper question of self-worth: what you value and what you will trade your time for.

Maya's Venus in Sam's 11th house

Maya's Venus brings affection, pleasure and appreciation in Sam's friends, community and hopes. The eleventh house is community: friends, networks, groups and the hopes you share with them. It shows who your people are and what future you are working toward.

Maya's Mars in Sam's 8th house

Maya's Mars brings drive, desire and sometimes friction in Sam's intimacy, shared resources and transformation. The eighth house covers intimacy, shared money, inheritance, loss and psychological change. It is where two lives merge and where you face what is hidden.

Maya's Jupiter in Sam's 11th house

Maya's Jupiter brings generosity, encouragement and growth in Sam's friends, community and hopes. The eleventh house is community: friends, networks, groups and the hopes you share with them. It shows who your people are and what future you are working toward.

Maya's Saturn in Sam's 4th house

Maya's Saturn brings structure, responsibility and seriousness in Sam's home, family and roots. The fourth house is the foundation: home, family, roots and your private emotional life. It sits at the bottom of the chart, the part of you the world rarely sees.

Maya's planet	Sign	In Sam's house	Area

Composite chart: the relationship itself

A composite chart takes the midpoint between each of your planets, for example halfway between Maya's Sun at 11°17 Virgo and Sam's Sun at 1°24 Taurus. The result reads as a chart for the relationship as its own entity: what it is for, how it feels, how it talks and fights.

Midpoints are computed along the shorter arc. Because the Moon moves quickly, the composite Moon is approximate unless both birth times are exact.

- Composite Sun (the purpose of the relationship) falls in Cancer.
- Composite Moon (its emotional climate) falls in Capricorn.
- Composite Mercury (how it talks) falls in Cancer.
- Composite Venus (how it loves) falls in Sagittarius.
- Composite Mars (how it acts and argues) falls in Aries.
- Composite Jupiter (where it grows) falls in Leo.
- Composite Saturn (where it is tested) falls in Aquarius.

Planet	Midpoint	Sign	Element
Sun	6°20	Cancer	Water
Moon	25°28	Capricorn	Earth
Mercury	8°55	Cancer	Water
Venus	24°56	Sagittarius	Fire
Mars	27°47	Aries	Fire
Jupiter	13°45	Leo	Fire
Saturn	4°13	Aquarius	Air
Uranus	11°53	Capricorn	Earth
Neptune	15°27	Capricorn	Earth
Pluto	18°39	Scorpio	Water

Composite Sun and Moon: purpose and climate

Composite Sun in Cancer (6°20 Cancer)

As a pair, you are a team with this core style and purpose. Read this the way you would read a Sun sign, but for 'us':

You lead with care. Your Cancer Sun builds safety for the people you love and remembers how everything felt. You are tougher than you look. Your growth edge is asking for the care you give so freely.

Composite Moon in Capricorn (25°28 Capricorn)

The emotional climate of the relationship, what the pair needs to feel secure together:

You handle feelings with self-control and may have grown up early. You feel safe when you are competent and prepared. Allowing yourself to be looked after is a strength, not a failure.

Elements of the pair

Composite Sun in Water and Moon in Earth: purpose and feeling use different languages, which makes the relationship richer but needs some translation.

Composite Venus and Mars: love and drive

Composite Venus in Sagittarius (24°56 Sagittarius)

How the relationship shows affection and what it finds beautiful:

You love freely and honestly. You want a partner who is also a friend and a co-adventurer. You show affection by sharing experiences. Freedom inside commitment keeps you happy.

Composite Mars in Aries (27°47 Aries)

How the relationship acts, makes decisions together and handles anger:

Mars is at home here. You act first and think on the way. You go after what you want openly, anger flares fast and fades fast, and competition fires you up. Your edge is patience: not every fight needs to happen today.

Note

Venus and Mars at the composite level are separated by 123 degrees of the zodiac.

Composite Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn

Composite Mercury in Cancer (8°55 Cancer)

How the relationship thinks and talks:

You think with feeling and remember everything. You pick up on tone more than words, and you speak gently when you feel safe. Criticism can feel personal. Your edge is separating facts from feelings in tough talks.

Composite Jupiter in Leo

Growth comes through creative confidence and generosity; you flourish when seen.

Composite Saturn in Aquarius

The lesson is belonging: being yourself while still committing to a group or cause.

Elements and modalities together

Maya: Earth leads: you are practical, steady and focused on real results. Little fire: motivation can need outside sparks; movement and play help.

Sam: Earth leads: you are practical, steady and focused on real results. Little fire: motivation can need outside sparks; movement and play help.

- Combined Fire: 1 planets. Fire is thin between you; make a conscious effort to bring in enthusiasm and action.
- Combined Earth: 10 planets. Earth is a strong shared language: practicality and patience come easily to you as a pair.
- Combined Air: 5 planets. A fair share of air.
- Combined Water: 6 planets. A fair share of water.

Element	Maya	Sam	Combined
Fire	1	0	1
Earth	5	5	10
Air	4	1	5
Water	1	5	6
Cardinal	4	5	9
Fixed	2	3	5
Mutable	5	3	8

Strengths of this pairing

Your highest-scoring theme is communication (81/100), followed by long-term staying power (62/100).

- Maya's Mercury Sam's Sun (Trine, 1°): Understanding what the other is really about; this flows easily.
- Maya's Neptune Sam's Moon (Sextile, 2.1°): A dreamy, soulful link (watch for illusion); this flows easily.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Mercury (Trine, 4.6°): Conversations that expand and encourage; this flows easily.
- Maya's North Node Sam's Sun (Trine, 4.6°): A 'meant to meet' feeling of shared direction; this flows easily.
- Maya's Mars Sam's Mars (Trine, 5.7°): Your drives meet — teamwork or friction; this flows easily.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Jupiter (Sextile, 5.8°): You bring out each other's optimism; this flows easily.

How to use your strengths

- Name them: tell each other when something is working. People repeat what they feel appreciated for.
- Lean on them under stress: if your best link is communication, go there first when you need to reconnect.
- Do not coast. Easy aspects need a purpose: choose a shared project that uses them.

Shared element and style

Maya's Sun in Virgo and Sam's Moon in Pisces: Earth meets Water, compatible elements that support and feed each other.

Sam's Sun in Taurus and Maya's Moon in Sagittarius: Earth meets Fire, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Growth areas

Your lowest-scoring theme is romance & attraction (49/100). That is where the most deliberate effort will pay off.

- Maya's Venus Sam's Jupiter (Square, 1.9°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5°): Admiration and affection come easily; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5.7°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Moon Sam's Moon (Square, 7.6°): Your emotional rhythms; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Moon (Opposition, 7.8°): Generosity and emotional support; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Mercury Sam's Mars (Opposition, 0.2°): This creates tension that asks for effort.

How to work with tension aspects

- Name the pattern together without blame: 'this is the Saturn-Moon thing again'.
- Agree on a signal to pause, and a time to return to the topic within a day.
- Get curious before you get certain: ask what the other person needs, not what they meant.

Individual stretch points

- Maya: accepting good enough, in yourself most of all (Sun in Virgo); commitment to details and to other people's pace (Moon in Sagittarius).
- Sam: flexibility when plans or comforts change (Sun in Taurus); boundaries and practical follow-through (Moon in Pisces).

Communication guide

Two styles

Maya (Mercury in Virgo) talks plainly and concretely, and wants practical conclusions. Mercury is at home here. Your mind is precise, analytical and practical; you notice errors, details and better ways of doing things. Overthinking is your stress signal. Your edge is kindness in how you deliver a correction.

Sam (Mercury in Taurus) talks plainly and concretely, and wants practical conclusions. You think slowly and thoroughly. Once you have made up your mind it stays made up, and your words are practical and calm. You learn best by doing. Your edge is staying open to a new idea after you have decided.

Fit

Maya's Mercury in Virgo and Sam's Mercury in Taurus: Earth meets Earth, the same element, which brings instant familiarity and a shared way of reacting; the risk is that you amplify each other's blind spots.

Practical tips

- Maya can help Sam by giving concrete examples.
- Sam can help Maya by giving concrete examples.
- For serious topics, choose a calm time, not the end of a long day.
- Repeat back what you heard before you reply.
- Text is where tone is most easily lost: if it feels charged, call or wait.

Conflict guide

How each of you fights

Maya (Mars in Gemini) argues with words and logic, or goes cold and detached. Moon in Sagittarius is what Maya wants most when upset: You need freedom, optimism and room to roam.

Sam (Mars in Pisces) feels hurt first and may withdraw, then come back with a point. Moon in Pisces is what Sam wants most when upset: You are an emotional sponge, absorbing the moods around you.

Maya's Mars in Gemini and Sam's Mars in Pisces: Air meets Water, elements that do not naturally agree, which creates friction, but also variety and a lot to learn from each other.

Where friction is most likely

- Maya's Venus Sam's Jupiter (Square, 1.9°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Sun Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5°): Admiration and affection come easily; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Jupiter Sam's Venus (Opposition, 5.7°): Joy, luck and generosity in love; this creates tension that asks for effort.
- Maya's Moon Sam's Moon (Square, 7.6°): Your emotional rhythms; this creates tension that asks for effort.

A conflict routine

- Pause when either of you says it is too much; agree to return in a set time.
- Start with what Maya needs and what Sam needs, each in one sentence.
- Separate the issue from the person: describe the behaviour and its effect.
- End with one concrete change each, however small.
- Repair matters more than avoiding conflict: a sincere apology and a hug often close what an argument cannot.

Long-term outlook

Commitment styles

Maya's Saturn in Aquarius: The lesson is belonging: being yourself while still committing to a group or cause.

Sam's Saturn in Capricorn: Saturn is at home here: you can build impressively, but must remember rest and warmth.

Growing together

Maya's Jupiter in Virgo: Growth comes through skill, service and refining your methods.

Sam's Jupiter in Cancer: Growth comes through caring, family and emotional generosity; home is a source of luck.

Staying power score: 62/100 (Balanced)

There is real potential for a lasting bond, built by regular effort: shared plans, honest check-ins and clear agreements.

What lasting couples tend to do

- Keep rituals: a weekly date, a morning coffee, an annual trip.
- Renegotiate roles as life changes, explicitly rather than by resentment.
- Support each other's growth, not only each other's comfort.
- Make decisions about money, home and family with clear, shared goals.

The next 12 months for the two of you

Transits are the planets of today compared with a birth chart. This table follows Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto against each of your Sun, Moon and Venus, sampled on the 15th of each month. When both of you have a hit in the same month, the relationship feels it.

Months where only one of you has a hit are a good time for the other to be patient and supportive; slow planets describe themes, not events.

Questions to talk through together

Choose two or three a week, over dinner or a walk. There are no right answers.

Love and affection

- What makes you feel most loved on an ordinary day?
- What is a small thing I do that you would like me to do more of?
- How do you like to be touched, thanked and surprised?

Stress and conflict

- What do you need from me when you are stressed? What do you not need?
- How did arguments go in your family growing up, and how is that showing up with us?
- What is one repair that works for you after a disagreement?

Long-term

- What are three things we both want in the next five years?
- Where do we want to be more adventurous, and where more settled?
- What is one thing we do well together that we should do more of?

About this report

- Which paragraph surprised you most? Which felt wrong, and why?

Glossary

Short definitions of the terms used in this report.

Term	Meaning
Ascendant (rising sign)	The sign on the eastern horizon at birth; how you meet the world. Needs an exact birth time.
Midheaven (MC)	The highest point of the chart; career direction and public reputation.
Aspect	A specific angle between two planets (conjunction 0, sextile 60, square 90, trine 120, opposition 180 degrees) that links their themes.
Orb	How far an aspect is from exact. Smaller orbs are stronger.
Conjunction	Two bodies in the same place: their energies fuse.
Trine / Sextile	Flowing, supportive aspects (120 and 60 degrees).
Square / Opposition	Tension aspects (90 and 180 degrees) that create drive and need balancing.
Retrograde	When a planet appears to move backward from Earth; read as a more inward, reflective expression of that planet.
House	One of twelve areas of life, from the 1st (self) to the 12th (the unconscious).
Cusp	The starting degree of a house.
Sign ruler	The planet that governs a sign; where it sits tells you how the sign's themes unfold.
Element	Fire, Earth, Air or Water: the basic temperament of a sign.
Modality	Cardinal (initiates), Fixed (sustains) or Mutable (adapts).
Stellium	Three or more planets in one sign or house.
Grand trine	Three planets forming a triangle of trines.
T-square	An opposition with a third planet square to both.
Yod	Two planets sextile each other, both quincunx (150 degrees) a third.
Lunar node	The Moon's North Node marks a growth direction; the opposite South Node marks familiar habits.
Transit	The current position of a planet compared with your birth chart.
Synastry	Comparing two birth charts by looking at the aspects between them.
Composite chart	A chart for the relationship itself, built from the midpoints between two people's planets.
House overlay	Where one person's planets fall in the other person's houses.
Midpoint	The point exactly halfway (along the shorter arc) between two positions.
Placidus	A common house system based on time; used here when it is defined, otherwise Porphyry.

Method and limits

Positions are apparent geocentric ecliptic longitudes computed with the open-source astronomy-engine library from the date, time, time zone and place you entered, using the historical time-zone database to convert local time to UTC. Planet positions are typically accurate to a few arc-minutes; the Moon is the most time-sensitive body.

Houses use the Placidus system, falling back to Porphyry only where Placidus is undefined (very high latitudes). The lunar node is the mean node.

Aspects use these orbs: conjunction 8, opposition 8, trine 7, square 7, sextile 5 degrees, with 2 extra degrees when the Sun or Moon is involved. Cross-chart aspects are shown within a slightly tighter orb (85 percent of these values).

Compatibility scores weigh the aspects between the two charts for each theme (romance, communication, emotional bond, staying power). They describe the chart connections only; they do not measure how well two people will get on.
